Global IP Rights – 12 years of R&D - Ready to Go

Expressions of interest are being sought internationally for the global intellectual property rights of this extremely well researched and proven product now ready to be launched.

Our international clients have over 12 years or more developed a revolutionary product which will have a significantly positive impact on the alcohol drinking culture around the world, as well as having other medical / health advantages. It is also expected to significantly reduce the high number of road crash deaths resulting from the drink / driving culture world-wide and greatly assist medicals to do their job in the hospital A&E departments.

This product has been developed over many years of trials and tribulations, and at more than significant cost, far exceeding the expected price, using a secret and trademarked active ingredient. Product variants could be predominantly seen in powder or capsule format, or alternatively as a beverage - your call, maybe one or all.

As the international demand for the potential range of products will exceed both the production capabilities and the marketing experience of our client, a decision has been taken by the principles of the company to offer the complete package with IP, trademarks, patents, with the option of the Scientist willing to stay in the business with you as a minor Shareholder to provide his ongoing assistance from him to ensure full advantage of this innovative opportunity.

Our Vendors are quite negotiable on the price circa US$1.0mil

For obvious reasons extreme confidentiality surrounds the sale of the IP of this product. If you like what you are reading and are an entrepreneur keen to launch an excellent group of products globally, this is the one business to follow up now.

To obtain further information, visit the Barker Business website, search #2171 and submit the online Confidentiality Agreement. Once Mike receives your expression of interest, he will be in touch to arrange an initial meeting to discuss the business.
